For the wellbeing of your pets

The animal converter is suitable for all types of small animals, such as birds, hamsters, cats, dogs and more. The animal converter provides pets with information that is specifically tailored to their needs.

The information transfer from the converter to the pet helps activate its self-regulation. By strengthening your pet's bio-resistance, the animal converter can help your pet feel better.

Possible negative effects of implanted microchips or adverse vaccination reactions can be pacified without affecting their function or the vaccination effect.

At the same time, the animals have more vitality and become more balanced. This can generally be quickly observed in the improvement of their fur or plumage.

Use the animal converter for your pets!

What pet owners say about the animal converter:

Our cat always had to bite when you stroked it. Not firmly, but just to show he's the boss. This is not very convenient in a residential area with children. We activated his food with the converter. We wanted to improve his fur because he really loses a lot of hair. After several months his fur was perfect and he has become much calmer and gentler. He no longer bites and the children can now stroke him easily.

Our neighbours' dogs were always yapping and that was unpleasant. I found some pretext to give the neighbours an animal converter for a gift. Officially, of course, it was only to enhance their well-being. The result really amazed me. A few days later, my wife (who knew nothing about the affair) asked me: "Haven't you also noticed that the neighbours' dogs are much calmer now?" So I told her about the converters. She can hardly believe that it's due to this. But I am convinced that the dogs' change of behaviour is the result of the converters.

Our dog had been limping and was in chronic pain for a year. The vet could only help him with cortisone and we knew that this was not really good for his health. So we put a bandage with the converter onto the painful area and left it there for 10 days. He is obviously no longer in pain, now he is running and jumping around like he did a year ago. We have now attached one converter to his food bowl and another one to his sleeping place. That makes a total of three. But it was worth it. The result has left us really delighted.

Conclusion: From the canary to the Saint Bernard: All small animals can be revitalised with the animal converter. The converter is easy to use and can be placed wherever beloved pets are!!

The i-like animal converter is scientifically supported by the health campus of St. Elisabeth University and other institutions.
