Right balance

The ProBodyTea is a tea extract powder, which is balanced according to the teaching „nutrition in accordance with the five elements“.

By optimising with bioresonance, the tea becomes a harmonious, savoury drink for everyday life. The acid-base-regulating function is given to the ProBodyTea by the antioxidant effect of various herbs such as bamboo, green tea, rooibos, thyme etc.

The tea helps in restoring an acid-base balance in which the body's systems are optimised by producing base.

The natural equilibrium in the acid-base balance of the blood is at a pH of 7.36 to 7.44. This is important for the structure and function of proteins, as well as for the distribution of (charged) electrolytes, the permeability of the membrane and the bone and connective tissue functions.

However, there are a large number of both endogenous (internal) and exogenous (external) factors that can interfere with this equilibrium. Fortunately, the natural regulatory systems normally restore the natural - slightly alkaline - condition.

The eating habits of our modern times with many fats, animal proteins and not enough fruits and vegetables together with stress and lack of exercise often lead to an acid excess, which the body systems cannot eliminate on their own. To compensate, teeth and bones - the mineral storage of the body - are attacked in order to gain bases. This can lead to tooth decay and osteoporosis

The ProBodyTea by i-like helps to restore a balanced base balance by optimising the body's system producing base.

The ProBodyTea has been developed to balance the natural acid-base balance according to the yin-yang principle. The proprietary systems for the producing of base are optimised thanks to the ProBodyTea.

Application

The ProBodyTea is optimally served several times daily between meals. If necessary, the tea can be sweetened with honey, stevia or berry.
